

RESPIRATORY CARE (AAS) PROGRAM STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon completion of the program, the graduate will:

1. Demonstrate professional behavior consistent with employer expectations for advanced-level respiratory therapists as documented by an employer survey with 90% of employers rating the graduate as acceptable or higher.
2. Demonstrate knowledge of professional behavior consistent with advanced-level respiratory therapists as documented by a graduate survey with 90% of graduates rating the program as acceptable or higher in preparing them to display professional behavior in the workplace.
3. Demonstrate knowledge of the field of respiratory therapy consistent with advanced-level respiratory therapists by passing the National Board for Respiratory Care's Certified Respiratory Therapist and Registered Respiratory Therapist exams with a pass rate equal to or above the national average.
4. Demonstrate knowledge of the field of respiratory therapy consistent with employer expectations for advanced-level respiratory therapists as documented by an employer survey with 90% of employers rating the graduate as acceptable or higher.
5. Demonstrate knowledge of the field of respiratory therapy consistent with advanced-level respiratory therapists as documented by a graduate survey with 90% of graduates rating the program as acceptable or higher in preparing them to display the knowledge needed in the workplace.
6. Demonstrate the technical skills consistent with employer expectations to fulfill their roles as advanced-level respiratory therapists as documented by an employer survey with 90% of employers rating the graduate as acceptable or higher.
7. Demonstrate the technical skills consistent with advanced-level respiratory therapists as documented by a graduate survey with 90% of graduates rating the program as acceptable or higher in preparing them to display the technical skills needed in the workplace.
8. Demonstrate that the program prepared the graduate consistent with employer expectations to fulfill their roles as advanced-level respiratory therapists as documented by an employer survey with 90% of employers rating the graduate as acceptable or higher.
9. Demonstrate that the program prepared the graduate to fulfill their role as advanced-level respiratory therapists as documented by a graduate survey with 90% of graduates rating the program as acceptable or higher in preparing them to fulfill their roles as advanced-level respiratory therapists in the workplace.